

REORGANIZATION OF AAA ANNOUNC- ED BY WALLACE

First Checks to Farmers Issued Just Before Election

Washington, March 17.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace today announced reorganization of the AAA and the establishment of the new soil conservation farm program.

His statement coincided with an agreement by senate and house conferees on the $2,859,751,905 independent offices supply bill to the senate additions of $440,000,000 for the first year's operation of the farm subsidy law and $1,730,000,000 for repayment of the soldiers' bonus.

There had been some concern at AAA lest operation of the conservation act be delayed by lack of funds.

Senator Byrnes (D-SC), one of the senate conferees, said an effort would be made to get the bill to the White House before President Roosevelt starts his southern cruise Thursday, the day AAA officials planned to begin field operations. The senate will act first on the conference report, probably today.

Old Directors Named

The directors of the old AAA commodity sections were named as regional directors for the respective divisions. The Commodity sections, which operated the cotton, wheat, corn-hog, and tobacco adjustment programs, are discontinued under the new set-up.

The new divisions with directors include:

North Central—Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, South Dakota, and Minnesota; Gerald B. Thorne, former director of the division of livestock and feed grains.

A denial by Chester C. Davis that the government times the flow of checks to farmers so as to swing elections was contained in a house committee report published today.

Cites "Coincidence"

Davis, AAA administrator, testified in recent hearings on an appropriation bill that subsidy payments under the new $440,000,000 farm program probably would begin about next August or September.

Rep. Bolton (R-Ohio) asked whether it was not "rather a coincidence" that in 1934 the AAA benefit payments were "heaviest in October."

"You mean as related to the election?" Davis asked.

"Yes."

"No; there was no deviation from our rule in making the payments as fast as the accounts came through."

Striking Wisconsin WPA Workers Refuse to Vacate Capitol

Madison, Wis., March 17.—(AP)—A request that they vacate the assembly chambers in the state Capitol Friday night for the scheduled state high school debate contest was met with refusal by WPA strikers who occupied the state house today for the sixth successive day.

The request that they relinquish the chambers was sent to the strikers by Dwight Mack, superintendent of buildings and grounds. The strikers appointed a committee to confer with Mack but instructed it to tell the superintendent they would not leave the assembly chambers.

Previously the strikers said they would remain until their demands for higher wages and better working conditions on WPA projects are satisfied.

32,000 of Illinois WPA Workers to Get Ax Before June 30

Chicago, March 17.—(AP)—Absence from the city of Robert J. Dunham, Illinois WPA administrator, and Ralph H. Burke, his assistant, forced postponement from today until later in the week of a meeting called to determine the exact number of WPA workers to be dismissed by June 30.

Dunham and Burke were in Washington attending a meeting of WPA administrators.

More than 42,000 WPA employees in Illinois will be laid off under terms of a Washington order issued two weeks ago.

Golden Glove Team Leaves for Garden

Chicago, March 17.—(AP)—Chicago's Golden Glove team of 32 fighters, headed by Coach Johnny Behr, newly-named Olympic boxing coach, will leave today for New York where the ninth inter-city gloves matches will be fought Monday night in Madison Square Garden.

No invading Golden Glove team ever has won the nearest approach to victory being the tie to which the teams battled in the first matches here in 1928. Chicago teams have a slight edge in the standings with four wins to three for New York.

SOME ODDITIES IN TODAY'S A. P. WORLD NEWS REPORT

INTERPRETED CONFAB
Grafton, W. Va., March 17.—(AP)—State, city and county police were holding a law enforcement conference when a holdup man obtained $15 at a filling station two blocks away. The robber quit conferring, and in five minutes blocked all roads. The robber got away.

JUDGE STARTLED
Lincoln, Neb., March 17.—(AP)—When Attorney T. A. Williams mentioned the address of the property involved in the foreclosure case he was arguing in the Nebraska Supreme Court, Chief Justice C. A. Goss was startled.

"Why," said he, "that's where I live."

But he added he was only the tenant, not the owner.

EVERYONE FLABBERGASTED
Fairmont, Minn., March 17.—(AP)—Attorney Paul O. Cooper, representing a client suing for damages allegedly suffered in a collision between an automobile and a hay baler, thought the jury of 12 farmers knew about hay balers. But they told Judge J. E. Haycraft they had never seen one, although much hay is raised hereabouts.

Then it developed Attorney Cooper couldn't describe one, either. So Judge Haycraft told him to bring a picture.

REAL LIQUIDATION

Chicago, March 17.—(AP)—The South Ashland National bank, closed June 25, 1932, returned deposits $1.05 3-10 for every $1 on deposit. Receiver H. E. Hallenbeck said today. Checks were ready, he said, for a 25.3 per cent payment in final liquidation of all accounts. Eighty per cent had been paid in previous disbursements. The extra 5.3 per cent represented interest from the date the bank closed.

HOLD TO RENEW BATTLE ON WPA

West Virginia Senator Seeks Investigation of Political Side

Washington, March 17.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today summoned congressional leaders to the White House for a conference on next year's relief appropriation.

The conference was called for late this afternoon to go over the entire relief problem and discuss the program the chief executive expects to submit Thursday.

Congressional leaders were still without word on the amount the president would ask, but administration spokesmen forecast it would be far smaller than some estimates.

Before going to the senate to renew his attacks on Harry L. Hopkins, Senator Holt (D-W. Va.) announced his aim was a senatorial inquiry into WPA conditions throughout the nation.

Holt Loads Guns

The investigation, he said, would sift charges that politics is involved with the handling of works progress administration programs in many states.

The West Virginian has charged in repeated senate speeches that WPA in his home state is politics-ridden. Relief Administrator Hopkins replied that an investigation showed the charges to be unfounded.

Last night Holt said he had received complaints of politics in relief in New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Texas and Arkansas.

SEEKS TO SAVE SON

Oklahoma City, March 17.—(AP)—Federal Judge Franklin E. Kenamer of Tulsa said today he would ask reopening of an investigation into the slaying of John Gorrell, Jr., in a last-minute effort to save his son, Phil Kenamer, from a 25-year prison term.

"Jafsie" Returns From His Trip;

Says He's Very Willing to Meet Gov. Hoffman and Discuss Bruno

New York, March 17.—(AP)—Dr. John F. Condon, returning to New York from a Panama vacation, was quoted by a fellow passenger on the liner Santa Inez today as being "very" willing to discuss the Lindbergh case with Gov. Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey, in Dr. Condon's own Bronx home.

"Jafsie" himself declined to make any comment whatever on the last-month efforts of Bruno Richard Hauptmann to escape execution for the kidnap murder of the Lindbergh baby.

But the Rev. Henry Beets, director of the Presbyterian Missions in South America, with headquarters at Valparaiso, Chile, quoted him as having said:

COLLECTION OF INCOME TAX UP NEARLY 50 PCT.

First Installments for 1935 Boost Total for Year Very Greatly

Washington, March 17.—(AP)—Income tax collections of $281,758,032 for the first 16 days of March, representing a gain of 46.4 per cent over the corresponding period last year, were reported today by the treasury.

These receipts, which included first installments on 1935 incomes, boosted the total of income tax collections for the year to $361,428,990 or 45.6 per cent greater than last year.

Virtually all collection districts, in preliminary telegraphic reports to the treasury, announced gains over last year.

Collection of income taxes in January amounted to $36,060,989 as compared with $32,320,790 in January last year. February's collection amounted to $43,609,969 as against $33,309,929 in 1935. The remainder of the $361,428,990 was collected in March.

The president's revised budget estimate had forecast receipts of $1,434,000,000 in the fiscal year which ends June 30. Through March 14, date of the latest treasury statement, a total of 717,945,662 had been realized.

Actual recollections last year were $1,099,000,000 and the year before $818,000,000.

NEW YORKERS PAY.

New York, March 17.—(AP)—New Yorkers beat the income tax deadline with $45,000,000 for Uncle Sam, according to a hasty compilation by collectors today.

Returns from three revenue districts of the metropolitan area showed final day receipts jumped from 33 per cent to as much as 75 per cent over 1935.

IN CHICAGO DISTRICT.

Chicago, March 17.—(AP)—Income tax collections in the Chicago district for 1935 totaled $28,557,005 at last midnight's deadline. Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue, announced today, an increase of 30 per cent over last year.

A large number of returns sent in by mail had not been opened. Harrison said, estimating they would boost the total to 40,000,000. Taxable returns counted at the deadline were 97,400 compared with 83,700 last year.

TO BUILD SETTLEMENT

Chicago—Proposed construction of a rural community of 50 homes near Libertyville, Ill., was announced by the Resettlement Administration. Project Manager George F. Gonsalves said 100 men would be employed and the homes would be completed by July 1.

"Talking Spell" of Southern Girl Has Physicians Puzzled

Shreveport, La., March 17.—(AP)—Physicians attempted today to diagnose the case of Ruby Poole, 16, who has talked incessantly for more than a week.

Ruby, daughter of J. H. Poole, an oil worker of Haynesville, La., was brought to the hospital here last Wednesday when she developed the "talking spell" after an attack of influenza. The girl seems quite rational and has discussed many subjects intelligently, displaying an imposing vocabulary.

The doctor said he believed one of the most effective forms of treatment consisted in separating her from her close relatives. The girls' mother has been permitted to see her only once during the six days she has been in the sanitarium.

Frank R. Stewart, Native of Dixon, Died on Birthday

Chicago, March 17.—(AP)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Frank R. Stewart, retired railroad clerk, who died yesterday at his 80th birthday. Stewart, employed by the Wabash railroad until his retirement in 1930, was a native of Dixon, Ill. His widow and three daughters survive.

Pet Rescued

Crooksville, O., March 17.—(AP)—Guy Brown and his three husky sons rescued "Fannie," their pet pony, today from the family mine in Louis Hollow.

Fannie, trapped 19 days ago in a cave-in, emerged sleepily but apparently none the worse for her experience after the four men had spent the night digging a tunnel through 20 feet of coal.

Hampered by new cave-ins which endangered their own lives, Brown and his sons had worked steadily for days to reach the five-year-old animal which he said "our kids think more of than anything we possess."

The pony, led through the hastily-driven shaft, was taken into the Brown home and given a warm place beside the kitchen stove.

$427,000 TRUCK HOLDUP MAY BE NEAR SOLUTION

New York, March 17.—(AP)—An early morning raid on an upper west side apartment today in which police arrested seven men and three women and confiscated a miniature arsenal may result in a solution, police believe, of the $427,000 hold up two years ago of an armored pay truck.

Police said William O'Brien, 25, one of the prisoners, was wanted in connection with the baffling Brooklyn robbery. His fingerprints, officers said, checked with those on a "wanted" card at police headquarters.

In addition to the hold-up in front of the Rubel Ice Company, police said the arrests may solve a number of out of town bank robberies, Fifth avenue jewel robberies and numerous high-jacking of trucks loaded with silks and other merchandise.

In addition to repeating rifles, sawed-off shotguns, and pistols, police found thousands of rounds of ammunition, a supply of gun cotton, a set of new Georgia license plates and a short wave radio transmitter.

HORNER'S FOES LOSE IN FIGHT AGAINST NESBIT

Springfield, Ill., March 17.—(AP)—Circuit Judge Victor Hemphill today issued a writ of mandamus to Walter Nesbit of Belleville, ordering the state certifying board to notify county clerks in the twenty-second congressional district that Nesbit was a qualified candidate for Democratic nomination in the April 14 election.

Nesbit seeks the post now held by Democratic State Chairman Bruce A. Campbell of Belleville and is supporting the candidacy of Governor Horner against Dr. Herman N. Bunsden of Chicago in the primary.

The judge held that the petitions of Nesbit, former congressman, were substantially sufficient and that the wording of them, "for nomination" instead of "for election" deceived no voter who signed them. It was because of the phraseology that the certifying board, which includes Governor Horner, Secretary of State Hughes and Auditor Barrett, refused to certify Nesbit's candidacy.

The technical action in the Sangamon court today was a motion by Assistant Attorney General John B. Harris that the petition be dismissed. The motion was denied and when the state refused to plead further, Judge Hemphill ordered the writ issued.

"Mercy Death" Talk Scares Patients in Salem, Ore. Asylum

Salem, Ore., March 17.—(AP)—Excitement stirred by "mercy death" talk in the Oregon home for feeble-minded was quieted today by assurance that none of the inmates would be chloroformed.

Four of the five terrified patients who died Sunday night were returned and others among the 969 in the home were told they need not fear a sociologist's suggestion that children with hopeless mental deficiencies be put to death.

Dr. S. B. Laughlin, Willamette University sociologist, expressed regret that his proposal last week had been "taken so seriously by those able to read."

Apparently the patients had read the proposal in newspapers. Mrs. L. D. Idleman, the home's head psychologist, said they were "repeatedly asking" whether they would be chloroformed.

"As far as chloroforming suggestions go, they do not apply to anyone able to read a newspaper or run away," Dr. Laughlin said. "I mean the mercy killing idea to be applied to idiots who could not read, talk or understand."

SEVERE SNOW IN NEW YORK STATE

Albany, N. Y., March 17.—(AP)—New floods threatened in southern and eastern New York state today as the worst snowstorm in recent years crippled Buffalo.

Snow 14 to 18 inches deep fell in western New York between midnight and noon and the end of the storm was not in sight early in the afternoon.

Schools in Jamestown and Niagara falls were closed and traffic was practically at a standstill. Niagara Falls had the deepest snow, 18 inches, shortly after noon. In Niagara Falls the storm was described as the worst since 1905. The Buffalo weather bureau said at noon it was their worst since any storm here since 1928 and that it would "get worse."

By early afternoon not a street car was moving in downtown Buffalo. Buses managed to keep going but schedules were not being kept.

Senate Snoopers May Ask Big Appropriation to En- gage High Powered Lawyer

$300 Per Month With $5 Daily Sustenance Not Sufficient

Washington, March 17.—(AP)—The Federal Communications Commission reported to the senate today that it had worked with the Black lobby committee in procuring copies of telegrams in order to secure information regarding the forgery, or destruction, of messages.

Citing that the Black committee had developed evidence of forgery and destruction of telegrams, the commission said "we considered it our duty to make a thorough investigation."

"It was clear," the report continued, "that the commission's study and the investigation being made by the senate committee, while for entirely different purposes paralleled each other to an extent."

"Co-ordinated" Snooping

"In order to secure information with the least possible disruption of the business of the telegraph company, it was agreed that the separate studies of the commission and of the committee to be made in Washington should be co-ordinated."

The commission's report was prepared in response to a resolution by Senator Borah (R-Ide) asking full information as to its activities in connection with the lobby committee's examination of telegrams here.

Chairman Black (D-Ala.) disclosed today the senate lobby committee is considering whether it should ask the senate for legislation empowering it to hire a lawyer "at an adequate fee" to fight William Randolph Hearst.

Want Lawyer's Fee

The publisher is seeking to have the District of Columbia Supreme Court compel the committee to refrain from trying to get possession of any telegrams sent by himself or officials of his publishing enterprise, and to return any telegrams it has obtained.

Black said that present laws limit the compensation of senate investigators or attorneys to $300 a month, plus $5 a day for sustenance.

"It's rather unusual to find a good lawyer who would handle a matter of this kind for $300 a month," he said.

Committee members gave their attention today to other matters to be taken up in future public hearings.

"Mercy Death" Talk Scares Patients in Salem, Ore. Asylum

Salem, Ore., March 17.—(AP)—Excitement stirred by "mercy death" talk in the Oregon home for feeble-minded was quieted today by assurance that none of the inmates would be chloroformed.

Horner Has Signed Three Labor Bills

Springfield, Ill., March 17.—(AP)—Governor Horner's office announced today he had signed the health, safety and comfort labor bills passed in the third special session of the assembly.

The measures, approved by Horner in Chicago last night, amended the labor laws to provide definite standards of safety precautions to be taken by employers. Cause the law formerly did not specifically set out standards, the state Supreme Court last year ruled part of it unconstitutional.

Rev. Coughlin's Original Shrine of the Little Flower is Destroyed by Fire Today; New Shrine Unhurt

Royal Oak, Mich., March 17.—(AP)—Fire destroyed Father Charles E. Coughlin's original Shrine of the Little Flower, a modest frame structure, today. The imposing, new half-million-dollar shrine, as yet incomplete, was not damaged.

Father Coughlin, at the fire himself, estimated the loss at $30,000. He and firemen were agreed that faulty wiring was the cause.

Two Royal Oak fire companies, giving assistance from neighboring Birmingham, brought the fire under control but not before 75-foot high flames had threatened to spread to the nearby shrine from which Father Coughlin makes his weekly radio broadcasts.

Nuns from the nearby Little Flower convent helped church attendants save the Blessed Sacrament, the Little Flower statuette, and most of the vestments.

Father Coughlin said the loss was covered by insurance.

The new shrine, built of masonry and steel, is only 75 feet from the square, shingle-covered structure that burned. Its stone exterior was blackened by smoke, but no other damage was apparent.

Firemen and Father Coughlin said there was no hint of incendiarism.

TERSE ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED IN DIXON DURING DAY

RABBIT BREEDERS MEET.
The Rock River Rabbit & Fur breeders Association will meet at 7:30 P. M. Thursday at the home of E. L. Moss, Jaydee Ave. and Ninth street.

SIGN OF SPRING.

A cheery harbinger of spring made appearance in Dixon today. John Nolf, genial and talented artist who has a home in Grand Detour is back after a winter in Chicago and his many friends are very glad to see him.

RAZING BUILDING.

A force of workmen begun operations this morning razing the buildings on Galena avenue north of First street which will be the location of the new Lee theater. The Worthington building which formerly housed the Bowman shoe store is the first to be razed and the work will then call for the removal of the other structure north to Commercial alley.

FATALLY INJURED.

Mrs. Emma Walker Jones 40, former resident of Dixon, was fatally injured late yesterday when she was struck by a truck in Chicago. Word of the accident was received by Chief of Police J. D. VanBibber last evening. The deceased is survived by a daughter, Miss Marion McCune of Hammond, Ind., and a brother, George W. Walker of this city. She was the daughter of the late Charles Walker, who passed away during the winter.

BROTHER-IN-LAW DEAD.

E. B. Raymond of this city received telegraphic news today of the death of his sister's husband, Rev. Charles L. Morgan, in a hospital in St. Petersburg, Fla., at 6 o'clock this morning of a bronchial cold and complications. Rev. Morgan was past 80 years of age. Burial will be in Belmont, Mass. The widow is Mrs. Florence Raymond.

MICHAEL JULIAN DIED ON MONDAY

Former Railroad Man, Well Known in City, Called to Rest

Michael Julian, well known resident of Dixon, who for the past ten years has conducted the Hillcrest nursery, passed away yesterday afternoon at 1:30 at the Katherine Shaw Betha hospital, his death ending an illness of more than three months duration and following an operation.

The deceased was born in Mionacelli, Italy, September 5, 1863. He had been a resident of Dixon for the past 24 years and during the greater part of this time, and in all about 40 years of his life, he had engaged in railroad work. For several years he was foreman of the maintenance department of the Northwestern at Dixon, retiring in 1933 to devote his entire time to the nursery business which he had established and developed.

Mike, as he was commonly known to his host of friends, was an exemplary citizen, always keenly interested in the welfare of the city, its institutions and development. In his kindly quiet way, he had contributed to the beautification of the city in many ways.

He is survived by his widow and the following children: John of Indianapolis, Ind., Mrs. Attora Soci of New York City, Mrs. George Hartman of Minneapolis, Minn., and August at home. Three brothers, August of Indianapolis, James and Carmen of San Francisco, Cal. and one sister, Mrs. Leonard Bagdon of Indianapolis, Ind., also survive.

Funeral services will be conducted at the family residence, 805 Broadway Thursday morning at 9 o'clock and at St. Patrick's Catholic church at 9:30, interment being in Oakwood.

Council's Proposal for Time Change in Rockford Rejected

Rockford, Ill., March 17.—(AP)—Aldermanic proposals for a referendum on adoption of daylight saving time in this city were overruled today when the board of election, commissioners held the city council had no authority to pass an ordinance providing for inclusion of such a vote in the April 14 primary.

B. J. Knight, attorney for the board, defined control of the clock as a "property right" and declared the only way such a referendum could be held was on presentation of a petition signed by 25 per cent of the voters. On previous occasions voters turned down time change proposals.

Former President of State Medical Assn. Died Monday in Silvis

Moline, Ill., Mar. 17.—(AP)—Dr. W. D. Chapman, 52, city physician of Silvis, a former president of the Illinois Medical Society, and for several years chairman of the state council, died suddenly at his home last night.

HITLER ACCEPTS PLEA TO ATTEND LEAGUE COUNCIL

Acceptance Comes Just Before He's Attacked by Russian

(Copyright, 1936, by The Associated Press)

London, Mar. 17.—(AP)—Reichsfuehrer Hitler today accepted the League of Nations' invitation for a discussion of Germany's position among nations—and was immediately attacked by Foreign Commissar Litvinoff of Russia as a conspirator against peace.

Hitler's acceptance did much to relieve the tension which has existed in Europe during the 10 days since his soldiers marched into the Rhineland, bringing the French charge that he had broken the Locarno treaty.

When he remilitarized the Rhineland, Hitler described Germany as a bulwark against Communism and declared the new Franco-Soviet pact already had destroyed the Locarno treaty and placed Germany in danger of aggression.

Charged "Smoke Screen"

But in a public session of the league council tonight, Litvinoff charged that Hitler was using his attacks on Russia "merely as a smokescreen for the aggression which is being prepared against other states."

Litvinoff declared: "the whole world knows that neither the Soviet Union nor France have any claims to German territory and that they are not striving to change the frontiers of Germany x x x"

"Analyzing the sum total of Mr. Hitler's proposals, I come to the conclusion that they not only would represent no compensation for the harm done to the organization of peace by condoning his breach of international treaties, but would themselves strike a blow at the organization of peace and at the League of Nations."

What Candidates
For Governorship
of Illinois Said

Chicago, March 17.—(AP)—Repeal of the state sales tax if he is elected was promised today by Len Small, former governor of Illinois who is a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, in his first radio address in Chicago during the present campaign.

"The poor," Small said, "pay virtually as much of this tax as the rich. Fundamentally unjust, it places the burden on the earnings of the poor, leaving on their food and clothing."

Extravagance and inefficiency in state and national affairs, he said, "have diverted millions from business to feed the tax-eaters. Give industry a chance to put that money into legitimate channels and change the relief rolls into pay-rolls."

Gov. Henry Horner, seeking the Democratic renomination: "The government belongs to the people, and if the people do not look after their own interests in government there are others only too glad to look after those interests for their own selfish ends."

Thomas P. Gunning, candidate for the Republican nomination as governor: "I pledge, if elected governor, to use all the power at my command to the end that the saloon shall be abolished."

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, candidate for the Democratic nomination as governor: "I understand the present administration is planning to spend $15,000,000 for bigger and more luxurious prisons. If we spend more money for education, vocational training and recreational facilities for our youngsters we wouldn't need these prisons 15 years from now."

CAGE TOURNAMENT

Several High School Outfits Look Good for State Honors

(Written for the Associated Press)
Champaign, Ill., March 17.—(AP)—Two days before the opening of the Illinois high school basketball tournament, no one team was considered today an out-and-out favorite and the fight for Springfield's vacated throne promised to be the most wide open affair in years.

Boasting 20 straight victories, Danville, the only undefeated team in the finals, was no more a favorite than Joliet, victor in 21 of its 22 starts, or Proviso high of Maywood, winner in 22 of 24 games.

Moline ranked as the problem child of the tourney, having dropped seven games by close margins before hitting its stride and beating East Moline, 27-15, to reach the finals. A strong favorite among those liking the underdog was Paris, which passed through a mediocre season and suddenly reversed form to bowl over Brockton, Greenup, Olney and Newton on its way to the state tournament.

Others With Backing
Others with considerable backing included Vandalia, on the face of its 27 victories in 31 games; Mt. Pulaski, a big, rugged crew; Johnston City, one of the best from the heart of little Egypt, and Hull, smallest school in the tourney.

Vandalia, because of victories over Johnston City and Proviso, loomed as a powerful threat with its fast breaking attack. The Vandals are in the same quarter of the draw with those two teams.

Joliet and Mt. Pulaski are pitted against each other in the first round, while Danville faces Centralia, Vandalia goes against Zeigler, Hull meets New Phillips of Chicago, and Proviso tackles Johnston City in other standout games.

Fulton's meeting with Paris, Peoria Manual's tilt with Decatur, and Moline's with West Aurora complete the list of first round games.

Three Extra Holes Needed for Decision

ALL of us feel a little lonely now that Kipling has gone away. He is mixed in our minds with memories of days gone by, when life was new, and his songs of the heroic made our hearts beat high.

Most of us had an attack of Kiplingitis; it was an epidemic in those days. The sweep and swing and lift of his lines made men sing, wherever art was known, and his stories delighted and dazzled us.

"It is enough that through Thy grace I saw naught common on Thy earth," is a kind of motto of his genius; to which we should add, "Help me to need no aid from men that I may aid such men as need."

Kipling was a singer who did not need to soar. The charm of him is that he flies low enough to see the romance, the poetry, the mysticism of common things. Even machines were poetry to him.

A poet of energy, but he sees that energy is soul, is mind in action. Brutal we may call him, but he makes us feel that all things are alive. He is the past grand pantheist of our literature.

As such he is dear to the hearts of boys, and his Jungle Book is one of the few books of our time sure to be read a hundred years hence. And he sang of the open road, and "the winds that tramp the world."

If he was fought with woman—"a rag, a bone, and a hank of hair"—his men are the men whom woman in love; the men who do things; Mulvaney, Ortheris, Leary, and all the rest of that most ungodly crew.

With all their magic-lantern-like effect, hardly more than a dozen of his stories can be remembered in detail. And except the Mulvaney stories those that are recalled are the least Kiplinglike.

To do the next duty, to live cleanly, cheerfully, stoically—that is the sum of his teaching. On all issues, except his hatred of rum and his fury at cruelty to animals, he was a crusty old Tory.

No matter, he was a poet of virility and power, of force of character, too. His protest was against pride, by which the angels fell. A mystic of the barrack-room, he taught a stern piety of life.

Mrs. Hanna Entertained Woman's Club With Book Review

Mrs. A. D. Hanna of Polo, District Chairman of Literature and Library Extension Department of the 13th District of the Illinois Federation of Woman's Clubs was the speaker at the meeting of the Dixon Woman's Club, Saturday March 14th. Due to the illness of one of the members of the club, the High School Dramatic Club was unable to give the play which had been announced for the meeting. Mrs. Hanna very graciously furnished the program for the afternoon.

Mrs. Hanna reviewed one of the new books, "The Sound of Music" by L. S. Strubling in an unusual and interesting manner. She told the story of the book giving most interesting and amusing comments regarding the various situations. It is a story of present day political life.

Preceding Mrs. Hanna's book review, the club was favored with a violin solo by Earl Forsberg accompanied by Lester Keifer. These two young men were prize winners at the Woman's Club Music Festival held last May.

The hostesses for the afternoon were Miss Barton, Mesdames Willard Thompson, Fraser, Sharpe, Burns, Morris, Schick, H. Scott, Schilberg.

Electric Organ's Tones Marvelous

Many Dixon music lovers marvelled at the newest of musical instruments—the Hammond electric organ—which was demonstrated in a free concert at the Methodist church last evening. The organ, employing radio tubes, and needing only connection with electric current to make it available for any occasion, possesses unlimited tonal qualities and is truly a remarkable instrument. The concert last evening was by Walter Flandorf, world famous organist, who played one of the Hammond instruments in the Ford Bowl at the San Diego exposition last summer. He is a master of the instrument and his auditors last evening were held spell-bound by the quality of tone which came from the little console, no larger than an ordinary spinet desk.

During the afternoon the organ was demonstrated at the state hospital and at the First Church of Christ, Scientist; while this afternoon, during the assembly hour at the high school, Mrs. Myrtle Bishop and a representative of the Hammond company, gave a short concert which was greatly enjoyed by the pupils.

Annual St. Patrick's Day Dinner Tonight

The ladies of St. Patrick's church are serving their annual St. Patrick's day dinner at St. Mary's Hall this evening, March 17th, from 5 to 7 P. M. to which everyone is cordially invited. The young people of the parish are sponsoring a dance from 9 to 12. No doubt the dance will be well attended.

All About the Polo Girl Scouts

(Telegraph Special service.)

Polo.—At this time especially a few words of explanation in regard to our newest organization, the Girl Scouts, seems somehow to be in order. No doubt it will be a surprise to know what they are; to hear that the 1936 Girl Scout, when given a chance to choose, elects to be a good cook or an excellent seamstress, or an expert in bandaging cuts or a perfect wizard in devising entertainment that costs almost nothing but the exercise of her own energy and ingenuity. In short, it may be a surprise to know that given a fair chance, Miss 1936 is a young lady of whom her most capricious grandmother might be proud, and who could certainly teach great-grandmother a few things about housekeeping as it was not done in her day.

The essence of Girl Scouting is individuality, and the strength of its appeal to the average girl probably lies first and foremost in the fact that it helps her to be herself. At the "teen age" "being" naturally implies "doing," which means that Girl Scouting gives a girl a chance to do the things that give her most pleasure. Thirty-one of our Polo girls now enjoy the advantages of the Girl Scout program but there are many others in the community who do not. With adequate public support every "teen age" girl could be a Scout. It is hoped that the leaders of our unit, Mrs. George Niman and Miss LeMaster, will have such cooperation as to make a permanent establishment of the Girl Scouts in Polo a reality.

Working hard at the present time to pass their tenderfoot tests are the following thirty-one: Helen Johnston, Marcella Markle, Betty Bowers, Shirley Ann Niman, Jean Allsopp, Lolita Horton, Maxine Finkle, LaVon Maxwell, Irene Riggs, Ruth Johnston, Madeline French, Margaret Smyth, Marjory Finkle, Lillian Meyers, Nellie Pearl Stackpole, Lelouis Grice, Gale Yount, Mary Joan Strub, Jean Parvin, Aileen Hostetter, Eleanor Mulnix, Carol Coffey, Bernice Woodin, Mary Alice Myers, Dorothy Krum, Evon Smith, Betty Jane Parvin, Dorothy Jean Garber, Ruby Stutcher, Carrie Gilbert, Bernice Howard.

Meeting So. Dixon Community Club

The South Dixon Community club met with Mrs. Jesse Lautzenheiser with Mrs. L. F. Henry assisting.

A good attendance and three visitors enjoyed a delicious picnic dinner.

At 2 o'clock the meeting was called to order with singing a club song. After a short business meeting the club enjoyed playing buncos. Mrs. Belle Mumford won high prize and Mrs. Anna Stefklin won low prize.

The next meeting will be held March 25, with Mrs. Belle Mumford. All members are requested to be present.

Butterbaugh-Cruse Wedding on Sunday

The marriage of Miss Doris Butterbaugh of Lanark to Lester Cruse of Stillman Valley was solemnized in Rockford by the Rev. Allen T. Shaw Sunday afternoon in the parlors of Central Christian church. The couple was attended by Miss Marion Tallman and Lee Cline.

Lefevre-Nehring Wedding in Oregon

A quiet, yet pretty wedding of much interest to their many friends, was solemnized Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at the Lutheran parsonage at Oregon, by the pastor of the church, Rev. J. E. Dale, who united Miss Vernie D. LeFevre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. LeFevre, and Clifford C. Nehring, son of Mrs. Freda Nehring, both of this city, in marriage.

The bride was lovely in a gown of navy blue sheer crepe with accessories harmonizing. The couple was unattended. Immediately following the ceremony they proceeded to Rockford to spend the day with relatives and now are home in a newly furnished apartment at 524 North Dixon avenue.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Nehring are employed at the Brown Shoe Company plant in Dixon and are very popular with a wide circle of friends. She is a charming and competent young woman, and he is a splendid young man. Their many friends extend best wishes for a successful and happy wedded life.

Miss Rafterie and Miss Bardwell were classmates at Rockford college.

W. C. T. U. TO MEET FRIDAY AFTERNOON—

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held in the Primrose room of the M. E. church, Friday, March 20, at 2:30 P. M.

A Frances Willard program has been prepared. A welcome to all friends.

The treasurer would appreciate it very much if all dues could be paid in this month.

SO. DIXON UNIT TO MEET FRIDAY EVENING—

The South Dixon Unit of the Farm Bureau will meet Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Schick, state highway No. 2, at which time an interesting program will be given and refreshments will be served. Ladies are expected to provide sandwiches, cake or fruit salad.

P. N. G. CLUB TO MEET THURSDAY—

The P. N. G. club will meet at the I. O. O. F. hall on Thursday. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock. After the business meeting there will be a program. A large attendance is desired. The hostesses will be Mrs. Susie Sinclair, Mrs. Mary Filson, Mrs. Dora Heft, Mrs. Susan Muzzy, Miss May Thorne.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY, A BEAUTIFUL DAY—

St. Patrick's Day today—and a lovely day it is—and it brings peace and joyfulness of spirit.

Mrs. Huff Hostess To Club Thursday

The Dixon Household Science Club met at the home of Mrs. Cora Huff, Thursday afternoon, the meeting being opened by the president, Mrs. Edith Bennett, and the singing of a new song by Mrs. Lydia Clymer which may be voted on for the Club's opening song.

Officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows:

President, Mrs. Edith Bennett. Vice-Pres., Mrs. Lydia Clymer. Sec.-Treas., Mrs. Bessie Hodge. Names were placed in a hat and Mrs. Hodge was awarded the next quilt blocks.

The rest of the afternoon was spent in sewing quilt blocks.

Very tempting refreshments were served by the hostess and everyone departed for their homes all having spent a very delightful afternoon.

Mrs. Bort Hostess At Dessert Bridge

Mrs. George Bort was hostess last evening at a delightful party, entertaining guests for five tables at a dessert bridge, with the attractive decorations in the St. Patrick's Day motif, accented with many lovely spring flowers.

Mrs. Arthur Cron was awarded the favor for high honors at bridge, with Mrs. Robert Seales winning the second high, and Miss Marion Ahrens winning the consolation favor.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Unger Were Honored

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whitebread entertained Sunday a number of friends and relatives, with dinner, the event honoring their daughter Edna who recently became the bride of Earl Unger of Mt. Morris. After the dinner the young couple were the recipients of many lovely gifts and the best wishes of all present for a happy wedded life.

BLONDE WOODS ALSO, ARE PREFERRED NOW—

We are going to see more and more light colored or blonde woods and gayer fabrics as we go deeper into the summer season. Butterflies, robins and rabbits spread all over chintzes and cretonnes. Many are slightly humorous with a deliberate disregard of scale in the designs.

AM. LEGION AUXILIARY TO MEET WEDNESDAY—

The American Legion Auxiliary will meet Wednesday at 2:30 in Legion Hall.

There will be initiation of new members. All officers and members are urged to attend this interesting meeting. Refreshments will be served during the afternoon.

TRUE BLUE CLASS TO MEET TONIGHT—

The True Blue Class of the Methodist church will hold a meeting at the church this evening, March 17 at 8 o'clock. Rev. Buxton will show moving pictures which he took in Wisconsin and Colorado.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY TO MEET THURSDAY—

The Bethel Missionary Society will meet Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. U. Weyant, 615 East Morgan street.

MISS HENNESSEY SPENT WEEK-END HERE—

Miss Eleanor Hennessey of Rockford spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Hennessey of North Dixon.

Supplying New Interest Will Often Quiet Restless Child

By Olive Roberts Barton

This little story illustrates the power of interest when the child strikes a snag and has a hard place to get over.

Daddy was taking his little girl home for Christmas, and it was a cold day, very cold.

The miles were long, and she grew very tired. There were still twenty miles to go when they reached a small town and besides it was getting dark.

"Is this the place?" she yawned. "Is this where Grandma lives?"

Daddy drew the robe closer and said No, that they still had a little way to go.

"About as far," he said soberly, "as well, we have to ride as long as it would take you to take a bath."

"How long is that, daddy?"

Starting a Long Bath

He took a long breath and began. "Now, let's see. First you have to take off your shoes. Then what comes next?"

"Stockings."

"Yes, that's right. Then what?"

"My dress?"

"Right." And so after about two miles she was ready to jump into the tub. But there was the water to be drawn. And the mat to be put down; the water was too hot and had to be cooled. She could not find a wash-rag and had to get out and dry herself off and go and hunt one. Then she had to begin over again. She washed one foot and then the other. Ten miles now. At fifteen miles she was all ready to get dressed again. She was hunting a dress with all the buttons on when they drew up in front of Grandma's house.

Imagination Is at Premium

Daddy passed up her entertainment then to the rest. After supper and bed, he told her she had never let out a cheer after he started his game. The dreary miles rolled away unnoticed as monotony will when the mind has something diverting to hang on to.

It struck me as being rather resourceful for a man. What do men know of these matters? Quite a lot, I have learned. The parent with a little imagination can usually jump into a breach and save the day. It isn't a matter of "mothers" or "daddies" at all, you see, but "parents" with a disposition for fun and an eye to necessity. It takes no knowledge of psychology to do these lovely things for children. It just takes heart.

Warns Against Neglect of Hernia

Many cases of hernia, or rupture of the abdominal walls, begin in such a small way as to seem unimportant. Some times a rupture occurs without the victim being immediately aware that he is so afflicted.

Serious consequences almost invariably follow when even the smallest rupture is neglected and uncared for. It is a fact established by experience that a ruptured person is actually taking his life in his own hands when he ignores the symptoms of a rupture and neglects or refuses to have it cared for. Pains in the back, stomach, groin or legs are symptoms which may indicate a rupture.

That every ruptured person, no matter how seemingly slight the hernia appears, should consult his physician as quickly as possible is the advice of Mr. Sterling of Sterling Pharmacy Company who has given special study to the relief of ruptures through the correct fitting of the proper truss. He is the exclusive representative in this city of the famous Akron Sponge Rubber Pad Trusses and provides for those who must wear trusses expert fitting service with the guarantee that every truss he sells will hold the rupture.

Consult your physician immediately, even if you only suspect you are ruptured. Then, if a truss is advisable, see this expert fitter.

SIMPLE, SAFE and so BEAUTIFUL

A ZOTOS Machineless Permanent (especially so when given by one of our ZOTOS trained operators). Of course, as you have probably been told, there are no machines or electricity to deal with when you're having a ZOTOS permanent. It's really so simple to have, and the exquisite, lasting wave will delight you!

We first brought ZOTOS to Dixon over two years ago and now have several hundred enthusiastic ZOTOS patrons. It is truly a marvelous method of permanent waving but still requires a highly skilled and well trained operator. All of our operators have this necessary skill, training and experience.

If it happens that you have not been in our shop we most cordially invite you to come in.

Mrs. Downs will give complimentary facials, using the famous Nina Ross Cosmetics all this week.

THE FUTURE OF GERMANY
Germany's present attempts toward European equality, under leadership of Chancellor-president Adolf Hitler, have proved the accuracy of a peace formula developed by Emmerich de Vattel, eighteenth century authority on international law. It was de Vattel's contention that a peace treaty, to accomplish its purpose, must be acceptable equally to both victor and vanquished. More specifically, it must be preferable to continued fighting, or any subsequent resumption of war.

One can not see how such a treaty could have been drawn up following the World War, for two reasons. First, the opposing statesmen were so bitter that a treaty acceptable to both sides was utterly out of the question. Second, the desires of France and Germany were so diametrically opposed that compromise on either side was impossible.

One needs no gazing crystal to foresee some of Germany's future under present leadership unless Hitler is blocked. Der Fuehrer's methods have been made clear. First, Hitler shouts so loudly for the impossible that the opposing powers grant reasonable concessions in order to silence him. Second, he suddenly brings about what is called, in diplomatic language, a "fait accompli." In simple English, an accomplished fact. "We have already done this; it is too late for you to ask us not to do it. Furthermore, what are you going to do about it?"

Remilitarization of the Rhine valley was an example of the fait accompli system. Rearmament of the Reich was a combination of shouting and fait accompli. Getting out from under reparations payments was a fair example of the loud shouting method. It was coupled with the fact that the powers knew Germany couldn't pay anyway, and they knew no way of extracting the money.

With Germany already armed it was easy to find troops to march into the Rhine area. Troops require fortifications, which will be built soon. With her frontier protected, Germany will be free to make further demands, which may include a customs union with Austria, abolishment of the Polish corridor, possession of Memel, reunion of Austria and Hungary, annexation of sections of other states which have German-speaking populations, restoration of colonies, trade preferences and finally a strong voice in European politics. In short, power and prosperity. A place in the sun.

Europe now has the choice of permitting this process to go on, step by step, or of stopping it abruptly. It can be attacked by force of arms at the risk of inviting African and Asiatic complications, or it can be softened by granting further concessions. It is reasonable to suppose that if enough concessions were made, Hitler could no longer appeal to the passions of his people, and that if the wind is thus taken out of his sails the saner German element will make short work of him. After which a new peace treaty, acceptable to both sides and preferable to another war, could be worked out with people like Dr. Hjalmar Schacht and responsible leaders in France and England.

That is what should have been done in the first place, and if the allies had looked backward into the eighteenth century, toward Emmerich de Vattel, instead of consulting their passions and fears, it might have been a saner world today.

But if the people of Europe, as represented by statesmen, had been that intelligent, there would have been no World War to settle.

In all the history of Europe, except when the Romans were on top, no attempt ever has been made to draw up a genuine treaty of peace between Germany and France on a live and let live basis. It is possible that immediate concessions now might only whet the German appetite, or give the French an opportunity to follow a demagogue. If we look at it that way, then peace is impossible and a new World War is inevitable.

Sanity is the only course that has not been followed in Europe since the time of Christ, and it might be worth a trial.

'RIVALRY' NOT COMPETITION
Russian industry now encourages what it wishes to call "rivalry." As we understand the brief reference in news reports, workers may undertake to exceed each other in production. But, not in competition, for competition is a word that can not be accepted in communism. It is akin to capitalism.

Is it not true that every progressive step made by the soviet has been in the direction of capitalistic and competitive methods? The money they borrow is the profit from capitalism. If there were no profits, who would make the loans?

Stalin has abandoned the theoretical for the practical when it seemed necessary to prolong the life of the soviet republics, although, of course, the practical is only made a small branch of the main track of communism.

The trick of the communist, and the radicals at Washington, is to present discarded theories under new names. Perhaps rivalry can be incorporated in the communistic system where competition could not be.

THE TWINKLES

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

Poor Duncy. He was scared to death. He ran till he near lost his breath. The cactus that was chasing him thought it a great big joke.

Wee Coppy shouted, "Don't be scared! Why, worse than that you've often fared. What if the cactus really does give you a sudden poke?"

"Oh, it has needles," Duncy cried, "and I don't want them in my side. Won't someone kindly help me? I am just about to drop."

Just then the kind old cattail came and loudly cried, "This is a shame! Hey, cactus, Duncy is my friend! This chasing stunt must stop!"

The cactus sat down on the ground, and when wee Duncy looked around, he shouted, "Thank you, cattail. You have saved me from real grief."

"I didn't do a thing, you see. Why should the cactus puncture me? Now, I can stop my running. My, but that's a big relief."

"Aw, I was only having fun. It was real sport to see you run," explained the prickly cactus. "I'll be on my merry way."

"Good riddance," Duncy shouted. "Gee, you'll never be a friend to me. I only hope you don't come back again some other day."

Then Scouty said, "Say, I know what we can do. Right here's a spot where we can look for four-leaf clovers. Luck is what they bring."

"I'm going to search till I find one. All join me. It will be real fun." Just then a little bird up in a tree began to sing.

"Ah, we'll have music with our play. I hope the bird won't fly away," said Goldy, as she joined brave Scouty right down on the ground.

The friendly cattail watched the bunch. Thought he, that was a dandy bunch. I know someone will find one, if they keep on looking round.

DAILY HEALTH

THE SERUM TREATMENT OF PNEUMONIA

To Dr. Frederick T. Lord of the Harvard Medical school and to Dr.
Roderick Heffron of the Massachusetts department of public health, the medical profession and the public are indebted for an excellent demonstration of the effective reduction of deaths from pneumonia by proper use of anti-pneumonia serum.

Their study showed that suitable treatment with potent serum reduced the death rate in type I cases of pneumonia from the expected 25 per cent to 11 per cent, and in cases of pneumonia of type II, from the expected death rate of 41 per cent to 27 per cent.

As types I and II together account for nearly 60 per cent of all the cases of pneumonia (the remaining being caused by other types of the pneumonia germ), it is obvious how many lives could be saved by the nation-wide use of potent anti-pneumonia serum.

Pneumonia is responsible for about 100,000 deaths a year in the United States. It is the most devastating of the respiratory infections and is the third commonest cause of death in the registration area.

The Massachusetts experience has shown, too, that serum can be effectively administered by the general practitioner to the pneumonia patient at his home. The techniques advocated and described by Dr. Lord and Heffron for identifying the type of pneumonia germ causing the disease, for determining whether the patient may be given anti-pneumonia serum with safety, and for administering the serum,
render this life-saving service easily available to the non-hospitalized patient. This, of course, embraces the larger number of pneumonia sufferers.

Tomorrow—Pneumonia Serum

are fortunate enough to have these luxuries of luxuries growing right in their back yards.

TRAFFIC TIPS

by the NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL

Illinois Division of Highways
Cooperating.

PAGE MR. WALKER!

Pedestrian deaths in this country last year ran between 40 and 45 per cent of the country's total automobile fatalities. In the cities the toll runs much higher, between 60 and 65 per cent.

Persons who are deaf, blind or crippled, or who are immature in years or judgment are frequent victims. The careful driver keeps these possible conditions in mind when approaching people on foot.
The alert pedestrian, however,
takes no chances with any driver and he seldom gets run down because:

1. He uses his head.
2. Doesn't take foolish chances.
3. Doesn't run across the street.
4. Is ever watchful for emergency.
5. Looks and listens—then walks.
6. Obeys police and traffic signals.
7. Is a good judge of speed and distance.
8. Stays on the curb until the lights change.
9. Makes it an invariable rule to look both ways before crossing.

And when one sees pearly teeth into an olive, a delicious thrill runs from the top of one's head to tips of one's toes, almost. In order to derive satisfaction to the utmost, olives

Emily Post may say "greedy," but

are fortunate enough to have these luxuries of luxuries growing right in
their back yards.

O'BRIEN BEST
400-METER BET
COACHES SAYTempleton Thinks Ben
Eastman Is Much Better

(Note: This is the second of a series on America's outstanding Olympic track and field prospects, written by the Associated Press sports editor in collaboration with the country's foremost coaches.)

BY ALAN GOULD.

New York, March 17.—(AP)—With one exception, America's leading track coaches name black-haired, long-striding Eddie O'Brien as our "one best bet" to retain 400-meter foot-racing honors in the forthcoming Olympic games at Berlin.

The dissenter is Robert (Dink) Templeton, of Stanford, not because of any skepticism of the Syracuse star's ability but because he believes his ex-pupil, Blazin' Ben Eastman, will come racing down the stretch this summer a winner in both the 400 and 800 meter Olympic championships.

Up to now it had been assumed Eastman's comeback, after a year's absence from competition, would be aimed only at the 800 meters, an event this country has not won since Ted Meredith raced to victory at Stockholm in 1912, and a distance for which Blazin' Ben shares the world record with Britain's 1932 Olympic winner, Tom Hampson.

Other coaches think Eastman's best course is to concentrate on the 800, particularly as America already is so well fortified for the shorter distance. In 1932 Blazin' Ben set a world record for the quarter-mile but he was beaten three straight times by Pennsylvania's little Bill Carr, who set a record pace himself and lowered the world 400-meter record in the Olympic final to 46.2 seconds. Since then Carr's running career has been ended by an automobile accident and Eastman, at intervals, has turned to longer distances with marked success.

O'Brien, in the view of such college mentors as Billy Hayes of Indiana, Bernie Moore of Louisiana State, Larry Snyder of Ohio State, Brutus Hamilton of California and Dean Cromwell of Southern California, looks to be the class of the 400 meters field. His own coach, the veteran Tom Keane, has the distinction of turning out an Olympic champion at eight-year intervals and he is due again.

Since licking the country's best quarter-milers at Princeton last June, O'Brien has been unbeaten at distances ranging from 440 yards to 600 meters, indoors or out. He set world records this winter for 500 yards and 600 meters in Madison Square Garden.

O'Brien Leading Candidate. Jimmy Luvall of U. C. L. A., twice winner of the U. C. 4-A 400 meters title, and John McCarthy, likeliest of a crack band of quarter-milers under Cromwell's win, are rated O'Brien's leading rivals of the West coast, Ray Ellinwood of the University of Chicago has developed sensationally indoors.

As a running mate for Eastman in the 800 the coaches select belated Charley Hornbostel, the Hustling Hoosier now a graduate student at Harvard. Hornbostel won the national collegiate half-mile title three times. He trailed Eastman two years ago when Blazin' Ben stepped to a new world record of 1:49.8 at Princeton.

TOLD TO GO HOME

San Francisco—Municipal Judge Frank W. Dunn advised a return home for Anthony Janis, 22, and Edward A. Sandell, 21, who said they were University of Illinois students, when they were brought before him on vagrancy charges resulting from an attempt to reach the Orient aboard the freighter City of Singapore. They were removed by a pilot boat when discovered 12 miles from shore. They said they wanted to "study the rubber industry" in India.

NEWS FROM BASEBALL CAMPS

Associated Press Sports Writers Tell of Activities of Major League Stars and Rookies.

(By The Associated Press) Bradenton—The Dodgers were named the "Phillies" on the score card as they went down 9-3 before the Cards yesterday and some of the wags said they looked worse. The Cards were named "Bradenton" but obviously were in the wrong league. There was a stern look in Casey Stengel's face after the game was over that forebode plenty of work today.

Pensacola—Bill Terry is considering carrying seven infielders and if he does the seventh man is likely to be Smokey Joe Martin. He probably will stay instead of Joe English, a lively fellow acquired from Galveston last fall. If Terry keeps all these infielders he will carry only nine pitchers.

St. Petersburg—After two cancellations the Yankees and the Cards meet in the grapefruit league today. Johnny Broaca, Monte Pearson and Walter Brown will do the flinging for the men of McCarthy. Joe DeMaggio will be in center field.

San Antonio—Cy Blanton expects to start on the mound for the Pirates today as they test their right handed batting lineup against the Subs. Only Cy and Arky Vaughan will swing from the portside if the champs start a left handed finger. John A. Heydler, chairman of the National League board, was expected to witness the game. The game will be the first of a long exhibition tour that will carry the Cubs to Florida by March 27.

Pasadena—Manager Jimmy Dykes looking ahead to the spring exhibition tour which starts Saturday against Los Angeles at San Bernardino, plans to work with his White Sox players today in an effort to correct fielding faults. He was satisfied with the pitching of Kennedy, Stratton and Whitehead.

Orlando—The likelihood that Owner Clark Griffith of the Senators would let his squad of rookie pitchers go grew today when Bucky Harris taught the 1936 signals to all of the squad except the rookie twirlers. Buck Newsum worried the camp when he complained of a pain in his knee, which was broken last year. It was not believed to be serious.

New Orleans—Manager Steve O'Neill planned to concentrate today on showing his Cleveland Indians how to run the bases. They showed weakness in this department in their recent series with the Giants. The Clan meets the Pelicans Wednesday.

Tampa—Southpaw Junie Barnes and righthander Red Davis, both rookies, were scheduled to pitch for the Reds today against the Boston Bees. Dessen said he hoped they would "show me something—they deserve a trial and perhaps we will uncover a couple of good hurriers."

Tampa—Happy over the Bees' 5-4 victory over the Tigers, Manager Bill McKechnie planned to use the same lineup against the Reds today. He said he would pick his pitchers from MacFayden, Brown, Chitwood and Cantwell.

Sarasota—Eddie Collins of the Red Sox says Billy Werber's expressed desire to be traded is up to Manager Joe Cronin, meanwhile Cronin indicated he was pleased with the way Johnnie Kroner was behaving himself on Werber's third base position.

Bradenton—General Manager Branch Rickey of the Cardinals spent yesterday at Bartow, Fla., where the Rochester club is in training, apparently unworried by the Dizzy Dean situation.

West Palm Beach—The Browns are in fine condition after their two winning games over the House of David and ready for the tougher assignments coming up. They meet the Athletics at Fort Myers Wednesday. Hornsby said he would take 22 players on the trip.

Lake Wales—Manager Mickey Cochrane brought his Tiger squad here today to meet the Milwaukee Brewers in a game dedicating a new park. Alvin Crowder was reported to be having trouble with his pitching arm, kinked in early practice, and was under the care of a specialist.

Winter Haven, Fla.—Jimmy Wilson planned an intracamp game for Phils today after drilling his hitters, fielders and pitchers in fundamentals. They start Wednesday a 27-game grapefruit league schedule.

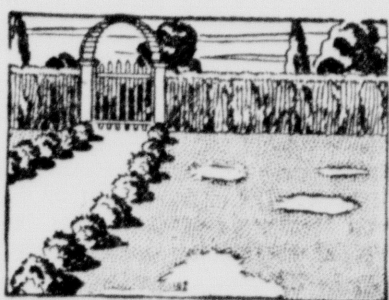

Fort Myers, Fla.—Pinky Higgins, holdout third baseman, arrives today for a conference with Connie Mack. He is expected to come to terms, giving the A's a squad of 46 men. The Browns are due here Wednesday for a training game.

what we want," says Frisch, "and that's everything. With the two Deans, Parmelee and Hallahan, who looks better than he has in several seasons, we should have a pitching staff second to none in the league. Lack of pitching never made a pennant contender.

Not a Cinch. "I don't say we are a cinch to win the flag but you can paste it in your hat that we are going to be the team to beat."

Besides his probable "big four"—the Deans, Parmelee and Hallahan—Frisch is counting on Bill Walker, Jess Haines, Bill McGee, Ed Heusser, Dominic Ryba and Nelson Potter, a promising right hander obtained from the Card farm at Houston.

Frisch's biggest worry, however, is Mr. Frisch. It's almost a

LEE FARMERS TO GET NEW SETUP

Yale Advises Act Is About Ready To Be Pushed Through

Final provisions of the new soil conservation and domestic allotment act as they affect Lee county farmers are now being pushed through and should be ready in the very near future, according to work which Farm Adviser Yale has just received from the extension service of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Some details of the new act, which replaces those portions of the AAA declared unconstitutional, already are known, but the remainder will be worked out in line with suggestions made at the four regional meetings which Washington officials held in different sections of the country.

Dean H. W. Mumford of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, and four other members of the college staff were among Illinois' delegates to the Chicago regional meeting held March 5, 6 and 7 for the north central states. Producers, farm organizations and cooperatives also were represented at the regional conferences.

Back of the new act, as explained to the Illinois representatives at the Chicago regional meeting, is the hope that farm communities will be kept in approximate balance with demand through the conservation of soil resources and the better use of land. One of the by-product benefits is expected to be the favorable effect on farm prices and income.

However, it may not be feasible to obtain exact parity of prices on a pre-war basis, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace said. This is true because production control of individual farm commodities is not possible under the plan. There will be no contract between farmers and the government.

Government grants will be paid to farmers on the basis of actual evidence of wise land use. Payments will be made for the growing of erosion-preventing and soil-building crops, of which there is no surplus, rather than soil-depleting cash crops, of which there is a surplus. Without some compensation many farmers could not afford to sacrifice any of their acreage of cash crops, it was pointed out.

The final basis of payments, which is one of the things yet to be determined, may be some combination of several specified methods. This will undoubtedly permit a flexibility in operation which will be tremendously important, because of the varying conditions in different regions of the country.

Local administration of the plan will be in the hands of county and community committees. The Agricultural Adjust Administration will have charge of the plan nationally, and as in the past the land grant colleges and their extension services will be asked to play an important part.

The program this year and possibly next year will come under the temporary provisions of the act. After that the act provides for a system of state aid under which the federal government will make grants to states electing to participate. The states in turn will make payments to individual farmers who cooperate.

The act aims at a so-called "yardstick of parity of farm income." It also contains assurance to consumers that it will not be administered so as to cut supplies of foods and fibers below the 1920-29 level, taking into consideration changes of population, loss of export markets, the amount of products forced into domestic markets by the loss and the substitution of one food for another by consumers.

The rays of the sun which are said to be the most health-giving have a wave length of from 280 to 320 millionths of a meter, and are invisible to the human eye.

MY PROJECT STORY

By John Mensch

Reporter Robert Folkers

In the fall of 1934, when I entered Dixon high school, I enrolled in the Soils and Crops class of Vocational Agriculture. I immediately became interested in my agricultural work and decided to do the best within my ability to do myself.

My greatest desire has been to build up a pure bred herd of Jersey cows with good type and quality. To do this, I started with one Jersey yearling, which cost me $30.00. This was a reasonable price for this calf because she was of a good quality. I mated her to a good Jersey bull that had quality and breeding type. I considered this important, as type is what I desired. I put her in a clean box stall and comfortable barn with access to fresh air and exercise. I fed her balanced rations of ground corn, oats, bran, and linseed oil meal.

Just before fair time I cleaned up the calf which I intended to exhibit. I received in premiums a total of $10.00.

Upon returning home I decided to feed my calf well enough so that she would take first place next year.

I then decided to show at the Ogle county fair at Oregon. Here I won $4.00, thus making a $14.00 show profit.

This profit partially financed my next year's project. I continued building up my foundation stock, and looking around for a better calf for my 1935 project. I found a good calf in Kentucky. I paid $30.00 for this calf.

Along came the fairs of 1935. I cleaned her and my last year's project yearling, which had grown into a cow.

I showed the cow and calf at the Lee county 4-H fair, where each was placed first in its class. The cow that took first place last year and also took first place at the Illinois state fair was fighting hard for first place, but losing this chance, my cow was given first. There were eleven cows competing in this class. Thus, I brought home $15.00 of prize money. Two days later, at the Dixon horse show, I won first on the calf and third on the cow. As there were only three cows in the class, and eleven yearlings, my two entries were both shown together. This time I brought home $20.00. One week later I entered the Ogle county fair at Oregon where I won second on the calf and third on the yearling. A few days later at the F. F. A. vocational fair, I won first on the calf and fourth on the cow. My total prize money for this fair was $12.00, besides winning the second place from the grand champion. I was defeated from having grand champion by a boy whose Holstein calf took first place at the Illinois state fair.

All I hope is that next year my calf will be good enough to win grand champion.

The only way I see that a boy or girl can win in livestock contests is by good feeding and caring for the animals.

In conclusion to my two years of project work, I wish to say that I will continue to do my very best to improve my foundation stock for a good breeding herd. I have started my project for the coming year with the same two animals. This year I hope to make a larger profit by exhibiting at more fairs. My project work has carried me to many interesting places, where I have seen and met breeders of dairy animals.

As I write this story I cannot help but think of the many opportunities vocational agriculture offers to interested students. I know my time in vocational agriculture is well spent.

culture is worthily spent in a worthy cause.

I shall never regret the time and labor I have spent in writing this story. I write in the hopes of being able to build up a real good dairy herd in the future years to come.

FRANK PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER to POULTRY RAISERS

Last week I drove through Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, and South Dakota. Everywhere I went I heard the same thing: This year, in contrast to the last few years, people are buying the best chick starter.

Successful modern farmers have proved that it pays.

I realize that the amount of change in our pocket usually determines the price we pay for feed. That has been the reason why so many chicks were started on home-mixed feeds or a cheap commercial feed.

But, so far as feed is concerned, there no longer seems to be any question of the truth of the old saying—"It's not what you pay, but what you get for what you pay that is economy."

Experience has taught the practical poultry raiser that the best feed is often the least expensive in the end because it produces results.

Good Feed for Chicks Pays

After all, three pounds of feed is all a baby chick needs for the first eight weeks of its life. If its growth is stunted during these first few weeks by improper feed, it can never overcome the effects.

So a few cents more on a hundred pound sack of feed is a good investment, because it can make a great many dollars difference in the size of the check you get when you sell the chickens!

Chickens that are properly fed from the start can be grown into large birds and they will be ready for market early. I don't have to tell you that the person who has raising chickens early in the season always gets a good price for his chickens. You've seen it happen year after year.

I am glad to see you buying the best chick starter you can get, just as I am glad to see you doing anything that will improve the quality of your poultry and make it more profitable to you.

Sincerely Yours,

Frank Pribe

LEE FEBRUARY DAIRY REPORT GIVEN TODAY

A herd of 11 grade Holsteins and Jerseys, owned by Keith Swartz led the Lee County Dairy Herd Improvement Association No. 2 for February with an average of 1145 lbs. of milk and 43.9 lbs. of fat. These cows were milked twice daily and were fed a balanced ration of corn, oats and soybean oilmeal with a liberal amount of alfalfa and soybean hay.

Powers & Drury's herd of 18 grade Holsteins were second with an average of 999 lbs. of milk and 35.8 lbs. of fat. These cows were milked twice daily, being fed a balanced ration.

Joe Reaver's herd of 15 grade Holsteins were third with an average of 935 lbs. of milk and 33.8 lbs. of fat. These cows were milked twice daily, this herd also being fed a balanced ration.

The fourth high herd in the association was that of Buckadool and Hendershot, 19 grade and purebred Holsteins with an average production of 978 lbs. of milk with 31.5 lbs. of butterfat. One of the 19 cows was dry. These cows were milked twice daily, being fed a balanced ration.

A herd of 24 grade Holsteins owned by Ward D. Shank were fifth with an average of 955 lbs. of milk and 30.6 lbs. of fat, these cows being milked twice daily and fed a balanced ration. One of the 24 cows was dry.

There were 337 cows on test from 17 herds in the month of February. 35 of the 337 cows were dry. These 337 cows produced an average of 678 lbs. of milk and 23.2 lbs. of fat on twice a day milking. 46 cows produced over 40 pounds of fat, and 12 cows produced over 50 pounds of fat.

Ten high cows:

1. Henry Hey's Grade Holstein with 1285 lbs. milk and 63.0 lbs. fat.
2. Keith Swartz' Grade Holstein with 1842 lbs. milk and 626 lbs. fat.
3. Lloyd L. Johnson's Grade Jersey with 986 lbs. milk and 58.2 lbs. fat.
4. Keith Swartz' Grade Holstein with 1341 lbs. milk and 56.3 lbs. fat.
5. Ward D. Shank's Grade Holstein with 1766 lbs. milk and 55.4 lbs. fat.
6. Smith & Covert's Grade Jersey with 1120 lbs. milk and 54.9 lbs. fat.
7. Ward D. Shank's Grade Holstein with 1644 lbs. milk and 54.3 lbs. fat.
8. Powers & Drury's Grade Holstein with 1349 lbs. milk and 54.0 lbs. fat.
9. Reid March's Purebred Holstein with 1320 lbs. milk and 52.8 lbs. fat.
10. Two cows tied for tenth with an average of 51.0 lbs. of fat.

DEMONSTRATION AT MT. MORRIS IS SUCCESSFUL

Seed Corn Situation In Ogle County Called Poor

A field demonstration meeting was held by Farm Adviser D. E. Warren, at the Brayton Fruit Farm at Mt. Morris at 1:30 P. M. Friday afternoon, March 13th, at which problems of fruit production were discussed by V. W. Kelley and L. H. Shropshire of the University of Illinois. Mr. Kelley is extension specialist in Horticulture and Mr. Shropshire is assistant state entomologist.

The discussions dealt with pruning, spraying, disease and insect control, choice of varieties and general orchard management. The meeting, designed to help those who have small fruit patches and orchards with any problems that they have, was profitable.

Mr. J. W. Robbins, manager of the farm, who will be host to the group on this occasion, has made his orchards available for demonstration at this meeting and gladly welcomes anyone who is interested in these subjects. Meetings of this kind have been so well attended in the past that the Farm Bureau has made this demonstration meeting an annual affair.

Corn Situation Poor

The seed corn situation in Ogle county appears to be the worst that it has been since 1918, according to D. E. Warren, farm adviser, Oregon, and it will be advisable for every farmer to make a thorough test of his seed corn in ample time to secure other seed if he finds his supply to be lacking in vitality.

Farmers have been advised through the Farm Bureau bulletins to test each individual ear by use of the modified rag doll tester, which is easily constructed. The ears of seed corn should be arranged on racks in such a way that they may be numbered, then three or four kernels from each ear should be placed in rows on a strip of muslin or paper toweling, moistened and rolled up and placed in a box where it may be kept moist and warm enough for germinating.

When the seed has had time to germinate it can be told which ears are good and which are not. Then by removing the poor ears from the lot the remainder of the seed is in good condition for planting. However, if a miscellaneous representative lot of kernels is tested to get the percentage of germination, there is an opportunity for improving the germination by taking out the poor ears.

The farm adviser, located at the farm bureau office, will be glad to assist those who wish information about testing and will be glad to know of any who have surplus seed for sale in order that it may be distributed to those who need to buy.

Soybean Research Lab Being Planned

Champaign, Ill., March 17—(AP)—University of Illinois college of agriculture officials have been notified by Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, of plans to establish a soybean research laboratory here.

The laboratory, H. W. Mumford, dean of the college of agriculture said, also would deal with utilization of soybean products. Dr. O. E. May, Dean Mumford said, will be the director of the laboratory. At present May is assistant chief of the industrial farm products research division, U. S. bureau of chemistry and soils.

Establishment of the laboratory, Dean Mumford explained was regarded by him as an opening to greater developments in production. Marketing and utilization of a crop which in the last 20 years had risen from the status of an agricultural curiosity to that of a major farm product—a product which brought over $25,000,000 to midwest farmers in 1935.

CONSERVATION OF OGLE SOIL BEING PLANNED IN ACT

Final provisions of the new soil conservation act as they affect Ogle county farmers are now in the making and should be ready for definite announcement in the very near future, according to word received by Farm Adviser D. E. Warren from the Extension Service of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois. Details of the plan will be worked out in line with suggestions made at the four regional meetings just recently held. The plan as it applies to this region will be in line with suggestions made at the Chicago meeting last week, which was attended by L. M. Gentry and John D. Coffman of Ogle county. Representatives of the College of Agriculture were also present at this meeting. Producers, farm organizations and cooperatives were represented.

Back of the new act is the hope that farm commodities will be kept in approximate balance with demand through the conservation of soil resources and the better use of land. The act aims at a parity of farm income rather than of prices of individual commodities and the preservation of soil resources as a protection to future economic production. The basis of allotment payments to farmers will be worked out by a committee of which Earl C. Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural Association, is chairman.

It is probable that farmers will be asked to adjust their selection of crops in such a way as to keep their percentage of tillable acres that are sown to soil building crops above the present average for the county and that payments will be made for the growing of erosion preventing and soil building crops of which there is no surplus, rather than soil depleting cash crops of which there is a surplus.

It is determined by the administration to have the plan ready for operation this year. Farmers who adjust their crop acreage so as to have a reasonable and substantial percentage of their tillable land sown to erosion preventing crops, such as legumes, will no doubt be in conformity to the plan. Definite information in this respect will be given as soon as it is announced from Washington.

NEW THEORIES OF BREEDING NEED TESTING

Improvement of farm livestock by definite genetic principles—as advocated by many breeders—will first require extensive experimenting to test the soundness of present theories regarding animal inheritance, says Dr. H. C. McPhee of the Bureau of Animal Industry.

Because breeding experiments with larger animals are likely to be costly, and cover many, many years, livestock men believe such work must be done by the Government or by foundations or institutions. They point out that some wealthy men could afford the cost of experiments, but accidents happen to fortunes and men die or change their minds. Any comprehensive breeding program must be assured continuity.

Such a program, says Dr. McPhee, should have in addition to continuity; inbreeding to develop strains or families with known characteristics; occasional outbreeding defects, and wide outcrossing of unrelated strains for market or for production. The first generation of such a cross has marked hybrid vigor, but little effort has been made to use this vigor in a regular breeding program, with the notable exception of mules.

VISIBLE GRAIN SUPPLY

New York, March 17—(AP)—The visible supply of American grain shows the following changes in bushels: wheat decreased 1,621,000; corn increased 672,000; oats decreased 717,000; rye decreased 78,000; barley decreased 98,000.

SEVERE WINTER CAUSED DAMAGE IN LEE COUNTY

Buildings, Cracked Foundations Need Many Repairs

Unheard of cold weather this winter has done much damage to farm buildings in Lee county a survey revealed this week.

The ground has frozen far deeper than ever before, going far beneath floors and foundations and the consequent heaving has done much damage to the foundations, floors and to the buildings themselves. Brick buildings have cracked and house walls have also developed fissures in many instances.

Many buildings have heaved to such an extent that doors cannot be opened or shut. Cement roads have also heaved very badly. The full extent of the damage to farm buildings, water pipes and cement roads will not be known until spring comes and the frost is gone.

Labor Demand Grows

There seems to be an unusually active demand for farm labor this season and several men have already come from the south to help supply the demand.

Shelling corn and the marketing of other farm products is now the order of the day, when and where the roads will permit. Deep snow over a period of two and a half months this winter made such work impossible.

Present farm prices of all grain are a little above the cost of production under existing conditions. Such items as oats and timothy seed are well below the cost of production.

Most country roads in Lee county are in terrible condition. Deep snow has been the principal cause. However, there are some short stretches of roads that are dry and have been improved by dragging. On March 8, snowdrifts still blocked some roads in Lee county.

Garden School is Held, Farm Bureau Office In Amboy

A vegetable garden school was held at 1:30 P. M. today at the Farm Bureau office in Amboy. Lee Somers of the University of Illinois, extension specialist at the College of Agriculture speaking.

Somers delivered an address on how to make a simple but effective farm garden where most of the cultivation is done with corn plows. The time of planting and best varieties were also mentioned.

At 10 A. M. today in the Ashton town hall, Professor Somers spoke on the good practices in growing asparagus.

LANDON-BORAH FIGHT BECOMES MORE PERSONAL

Oklahoma's 21 Votes Assured Landon at the G. O. P. Convention

Washington, March 17—(AP)—Supporters of Alf M. Landon pressed on with their presidential drive today, elated by the knowledge that the Kansas governor is assured of the 21 votes of Oklahoma at the coming Republican national convention.

Even as the state's convention adopted the unit rule throwing its full party strength to the Kansan, his name figured in a hot intra-party dispute.

Louis Levand, publisher of the Wichita (Kan.) Beacon, charged Senator Borah of Idaho, avowed candidate for the Republican nomination, with making "baseless insinuations" against Landon.

Borah quickly denied it and told Levand "you owe Gov. Landon an apology for your blundering defense of him when no defense was called for."

The publisher's communication to Borah was based on the latter's charge that "the Standard Oil Company" was mixing in Oklahoma's Republican politics.

Denies Reference
Levand said Borah had injected "baseless insinuations into a situation which so far has been notable for the absence of vilification and mudslinging."

The Idahoan replied that he had made no reference "directly or indirectly to Gov. Landon."

"I denounced the Standard Oil Company for its activities in trying to secure an uninstructed delegation and for its activities in seeking to control such delegation," he said. "x x x Now you claim in doing this I am attacking them. x x x"

After this exchange of telegrams Levand wired Borah last night that press association and news agency reports of your remarks Saturday night, specifically mentioning Gov. Landon as the target of four attacks.

Meanwhile in Oklahoma City, Republican leaders continued to decry Borah's charges.

Charge Called "Bunk"

C. C. Hawk, retiring state Republican chairman, declared there was "nothing to" the charge. Lew Wentz, oil man and convention delegate, said the Borah charge was "bunk." W. G. Skelly, national committeeman, previously said the Borah statement was "not worth answering."

Representative Fish (R-N. Y.) joined Borah's attack on Standard

Oil and mentioned both Landon and Skelly by name.

"I am not surprised to hear that W. G. Skelly of the Skelly Oil Company, affiliated with the Standard Oil group and Republican national committeeman from Oklahoma, has succeeded in delivering the Republican delegates to the national convention at Cleveland to Gov. Landon," said Fish.

Oklahoma's six delegates at large were instructed by the convention to vote and work for Landon. Six district delegates already had been instructed for Landon. Adoption of the unit rule giving the majority full sway thus assured Landon the 21 votes at Cleveland.

LIVESTOCK AT BEST PRICE IN THREE YEARS

Not All Sections of State Benefit Alike Though

Urbana, Ill., March 17—Farm incomes in Illinois are reflecting the fact that livestock prices in 1935 were the best in three years, according to early returns on farm account books which hundreds of farmers throughout the state are keeping in cooperation with the department of agricultural economics, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Not all sections of the state are benefiting alike, however, since livestock is more important in some areas than in others. For the state as a whole farmers get more than two-thirds of their cash income from livestock and livestock products, or between 175 and 200 million dollars.

Farm Prices 39% Higher
Average farm prices of livestock and livestock products were 39 per cent higher in 1935 than in 1934, 61 per cent higher than in 1933 and 60 per cent higher than in 1932, according to reports from the U. S. bureau of agricultural economics.

All livestock commodities except wool sold much higher in 1935 than in 1934. Meat animals were 68 per cent higher, chickens and eggs 35 per cent, work animals 15 per cent and dairy products 13 per cent higher. Farmers got 11 per cent less for their wool, however.

Hogs led the gains, the average farm price in 1935 being $8.36 a hundred pounds live weight as compared with $4.14 in 1934. The marked advance is attributed chiefly to abnormally low market supplies of hogs.

Cattle and calves advanced sharply in price, with beef cattle averaging $6.21 a hundred pounds 1935 compared with $4.1½ in 1934 and veal calves $7.10 compared with $4.84. Prices for sheep and lambs advanced, largely in response to the general shortage of meat animals in 1935 and to improved demand.

Butterfat led the price advances in dairy products, rising from 22.7 cents a pound in 1934 to 28.1 cents in 1935. The advance in butter prices was attributed to improved consumer demand and a material reduction in edible fats.

CORN SEALING EXPIRES LAST WEEK OF MARCH

Producers Warned Time Limit Near For All Loans

According to information received from W. H. Glaser, secretary of the Lee County Warehouse Supervisory Board the time set for which loans can be made through the Commodity Credit Corporation for corn sealing will expire March 31, 1936.

This means that all producers who wish to seal their corn and secure the benefit of the 45c guarantee price must do so on or before Tuesday, March 31, 1936. After that date the Commodity Credit Corporation will not accept any loans. It is only through the Commodity Credit Corporation that the guarantee price of 45c per bushel can be secured and the loan through the Commodity Credit Corporation with the guarantee price of 45c per bushel can be secured only by those who had a 1935 Corn-Hog agreement and will agree to cooperate with the Soil Conservation program when such program is presented. Those who did not cooperate with the corn-hog program or do not wish to cooperate with the soil conservation program can seal their corn but must negotiate a loan themselves through some local bank or credit corporation.

Those producers wishing to seal their corn and secure the benefit of the 45c per bushel guarantee should write or call the Warehouse Supervisory Board's office located in the Farm Bureau office at Amboy making application to have his corn sealed or he may make application through the sealer in his territory. There is no indication that the time for sealing will be extended beyond March 31, 1936 and application should be made as soon as possible by those wishing to have their corn sealed.

It is necessary that the crib in which the corn, to be sealed, is either boarded or wired to the top of the roof so that entry can not be made without forcing some part of the crib. In the past this has been one of the great troubles in not having the crib properly secured when the sealer was called. This greatly delays the loan and should be taken care of before the sealer is called.

CCC Camps Aided Waterfowl Refuge Program Last Year

Much of the success of the waterfowl-refuge program of the United States Biological Survey is due to the work of 22 C. C. camps. Under the direction of Survey engineers and biologists, the C. C. boys have done a thousand and one necessary jobs, says J. C. Salyer, Chief of the Bureau's waterfowl division.

An outstanding example is the seed gathering and food and covering for wildlife. Tons of seeds and tubers were collected last fall on many refuges by the C. C. and stored for planting.

In addition to developing the natural supply of foods, E. C. W. workers planted patches of corn, wheat, barley, and millet and hauled screenings donated by the elevators to the refuges for feed. More than 80 tons was stored for this winter in granaries built with C. C. labor.

On some areas the Bureau found it necessary to raise stock in nurseries and many an embryo nurseryman was discovered among the workers.

EXTREMISTS IN- VADE PROPERTY SPANISH PREXY

Seize Extensive Holdings of Niceto Alcalá Zamora

Madrid, March 17.—(AP)—Extremists Monday seized extensive properties owned by President Niceto Alcalá Zamora.

An aunt of the president was attacked by the extremists but saved from serious injury by police.

The sudden attack on the president's property and family came despite an order from Leftist leaders to their followers to stop demonstrating.

Mobs alleged by police to be made up of Communists occupied the president's big estate at Priego de Cordoba and tried to storm the home of Senora Gloria Torres, the 74-year-old maiden aunt of the chief executive in Jaen province.

Her retainers barricaded the house and sent word to Civil Governor Francisco Rubio, who rushed two trucks of storm police to the besieged mansion.

Jailed for Safety
Senora Torres, the Marquess de Las Fuentes del Moral, another rich property holder in the neighborhood, and three local priests were taken to the city of Jaen and placed in prison on the governor's orders to insure their personal safety.

Another mob of alleged Communists, attacking the presidential estates at Priego de Cordoba, drove off the caretakers and proceeded to parcel out the land among themselves. A number of small buildings on the estate were burned.

Guards were sent from Cordoba to protect the president's private summer residence.

A number of persons were reported wounded in exchanges of shots between the police and the mobs.

11 Killed in Riots

The army demand for an end to the internal strife followed a night of disorders at Logrono, capital of the northern province of the same name, in which at least 11 persons were killed and 40 wounded in a clash between troops and extremists.

Despite a strict censorship, imposed by the governor of Logrono, it was learned that incendiaries fired six convents and churches there Saturday night, burned four Rightist centers and attacked the army barracks.

An infantry company exchanging salutes with the armed extremists, finally succeeded in dispersing them.

Eight persons were killed in new scattered incidents of political strife reports from the provinces said today, after the Left-Republican government of Premier Manuel Azana decided to prolong the national-wide state of alarm for 16 parliamentary elections placed Azana's government in power.

The cabinet agreed last night that the state of alarm, which put all Spain's law forces on guard after the violence first broke out, should continue in effect against the disturbances.

President Zamora also signed a decree providing for a revision in the proceedings by which Jesuit properties were to be restored to the society of Jesus. Orders for the return of the properties were suspended pending a re-examination.

Bombings and Lynchings
Bombing, lynchings, gun battles and demonstrations marked the fresh flare-up of clashes between the political Left and Right, arising since the Leftist victory in the Feb. 16 parliamentary elections placed Azana's government in power.

The cabinet agreed last night that the state of alarm, which put all Spain's law forces on guard after the violence first broke out, should continue in effect against the disturbances.

President Zamora also signed a decree providing for a revision in the proceedings by which Jesuit properties were to be restored to the society of Jesus. Orders for the return of the properties were suspended pending a re-examination.

President Upset
Persons close to the president said he was "seriously upset" by the political situation and was ready to resign "at the moment he may deem opportune."

In later outbreaks, one Leftist was killed by Rightists in a clash at the town of Jumilla in Murcia province. The aggressors were arrested, a bomb bursting as a group of Rightists tried to free their companions.

Two alleged Fascists were lynched.

THUMBS DOWN ON THUMB- JERKERS.

Hitch-hiking seems to have become one of America's favorite modes of travel during recent years, but the wise motorist will do everything he possibly can to discourage it. Many drivers have been robbed by those they picked up; others have been sued for heavy damages by their "guests," after an accident and have paid!

The practice of hitch-hiking also creates a dangerous situation on the street because youngsters stand out in the road when they should be safely on the sidewalk.

If you are naturally sociable and kind-hearted, you will find it difficult to turn down hitch-hikers when you have plenty of room in your car, but to be on the safe side you must refuse them. Taking riders does not pay.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY NOT LIKE IT USED TO BE

Older Irishmen Say It Is More Like Day of Mourning Now

Dublin, Irish Free State, March 17.—(AP)—Ireland observed the day of St. Patrick, its patron saint today, but in the words of one veteran, "this is more like a day of national mourning than a day of national rejoicing."

Shops were closed, the Irish flag flew over all public buildings, the people wore the shamrock and the children were bedecked in Irish costumes, all gay and brave enough. But that was all.

The great processions of the past apparently were gone. There was a procession in Dublin town this morning, but it was a formal affair, with scarcely a flurry of excitement. That was virtually the only public demonstration within the shores of Erin.

Recalls Olden Days

"Twenty-five years ago," one old resident recalled, "there were demonstrations on St. Patrick's Day which were demonstrations. All but the blind and the halt and the lame turned out with his green rosette and a bunch of shamrocks."

"It was a great day! The mayor and the town council would be with us, and we would march through the streets like we meant it, with our colors and banners flying."

"There was oratory, and fine toasts to St. Patrick and Ireland."

Beer Shops Closed

Now, the veteran shrugged, "since Ireland got her freedom you can't even drink the shamrock on St. Patrick's Day. Today all the beer shops are closed and it is an offense against the law to be caught on licensed premises."

Ireland will be quiet tonight, too. Whenever there is a dance now, one must get permission to hold it from a magistrate. In many parts of the country, there will be no dancing, the magistrates having declined permission.

Beneath the day's observance ran an undercurrent of political rivalry, with a general election soon to decide the future of the regime of the American-born president Eamon de Valera.

An increase in taxation, during the Anglo-Irish dispute, has contributed to discontent, although Irish industries are being revived under the economic warfare.

Jailer Awarded Damages of $215

Carlyle, Ill., March 17.—(AP)—Robert K. Hooker, Clinton county jailer who refuses to be fired until Sheriff Frank Duemann pays him a $375 board bill for meals at the Hooker table, chucked up a victory Monday when a justice court awarded his wife damages for $215 against the sheriff for "services rendered."

The "services rendered," the jailer said covered washing and ironing done by his wife to accommodate the sheriff. "I intend to collect the board bill, too," he said.

Hooker said he would file his answer today to mandamus proceedings filed by the sheriff to compel the jailer to vacate.

The jailer charged he was fired when he tried to collect part of the board bill. He reiterated his refusal to vacate the jail until the sheriff pays up the board bill.

Tears blinded her, and she brushed them back.

your package, haven't you?" Toby said. "It's right here. I'll get it."

She turned to the wrapping desk and was back with the package.

The woman opened her purse and took out a bill. "While I'm here," she said, "I believe I'll look at that other compact you showed me—the hampered silver one. I think perhaps I'd like to have both of them."

"Certainly."

Toby got out the tray of compacts and the woman decided to take the silver one. Waiting for her package to be wrapped and to receive her change, she said, "I've some more shopping to do next week—gifts for some pieces of mine. You've been so nice about this, I think I'd like to have you wait on me."

"I'll be glad to," Toby told her. She turned to her next customer. Not once did Toby think of the brown-covered book she had left lying on the counter, or of the watches in their case.

For 20 minutes more she was busy. Then she was surprised by a touch on her arm. Miss Burrows, the buyer, said, "Miss Ryan, will you come with me to Mr. Henderson's office. Right away, please."

"Why—yes."

Toby could see that something was wrong. She stepped out into the aisle beside Miss Burrows and said anxiously, "What is it? Has anything happened?"

"I'd rather not say anything until we're upstairs."

They stepped into the elevator, stepped out a moment later on a hallway that was carpeted. Then they were entering a door marked "Private."

Toby had never been in this office before. A middle-aged man with a large chin and wearing rimmed spectacles sat at a large, highly-polished desk. Miss Burrows stepped forward. She said, "This is the girl, Mr. Henderson. Her name is Toby Ryan."

The man at the desk cleared his throat. "Won't you—ah—sit down," he said, motioning toward chairs. He went on, looking at Toby, "Well, young woman, what have you to say for yourself?" Miss Burrows cut in, "I haven't discussed it with her. I didn't want others listening." She turned toward Toby. "You might as well tell the truth," she went on. "We'll find out soon enough if you don't. What did you do with the watch?"

Toby's blue-gray eyes widened. "What do you mean?" she asked. Miss Burrows went on briskly, "I'm warning you that it will be better for you to tell the truth. You know you could be arrested for this."

"But, Miss Burrows, I don't know what you're talking about!" Panic edged the girl's words.

"Do you deny," the elder woman asked sharply, "that you went to the advertising department for the four watches sketched for Saturday's advertisement?"

"No, of course not—"

"Do you deny that you received the watches from Mr. Keller?"

"No."

"Then why didn't you return them to the case?"

"But I did!"

"All of them?"

"Yes."

"There are three watches in the case," Miss Burrows said. "The fourth—and most valuable—is not there."

"But, Miss Burrows, I did put all of them in the case. All four of them. It must be there!"

The brown-covered book lay on the desk. Miss Burrows picked it up. "If you returned the watches, why didn't you sign for them?" she asked.

"But I did—"

suddenly stopped. She remembered she hadn't signed the book. She had meant to—and then she had gone to wait on the woman in the leopard coat instead.

Mr. Henderson was flipping back the pages of the notebook. He held it up, opened to the last page on which there was an entry.

"There is no signature," he said, "except the one showing that the watches were taken to the advertising department. It seems—"

WHERE was a knock at the door and Henderson called out, "Come in!"

A man in a blue suit, wearing a felt hat, entered. He pulled off the hat rather awkwardly as he crossed to Henderson's desk and laid something down. It was a tiny, diamond-studded wrist watch.

"We found it," the man drawled, "in her locker."

Toby did not understand what he meant for a moment. She looked up to face three pair of eyes staring at her, three faces, grimly accusing. Suddenly the girl threw up one hand.

"It isn't true!" she cried. "It can't be. I didn't take the watch and I don't know anything about it! I told you I didn't take it—"

Her head dropped forward and she covered her face with both hands. Sobs shook her shoulders. The voices of the others went on, but Toby did not hear them. She did not know what they were saying. She wept on until Miss Burrows touched her shoulder.

"Come," the woman said. "The cashier will give you your check. It's an hour before closing time, but you needn't go back to the department. Since the watch has been returned, we won't go any further with the matter—"

Toby took her hands from her tear-stained face. "But, Miss Burrows, I didn't take the watch!" she insisted. "Oh, won't you please believe me?"

The older woman only said, "Come with me. I'll speak to the cashier."

Ten minutes later Toby Ryan was walking along the slushy street. Tears blinded her and she brushed them back, but they would not stop. Passers by turned to look at the girl curiously. Toby did not see them. She walked on, unaware that the cold wind was blowing her coat back, that the soles of her feet were wet, and that she was shivering.

Bergman's was behind her—Bergman's and the job she had been so proud of. She was not going back there—ever. She had been discharged, branded a thief.

State Hospital

At 12 o'clock noon today Lawrence "Jerry" Gorman, night telephone operator, and special officer William Sharkey snatched a few minutes from their duties to celebrate their birthdays. The celebration consisted of a greeting by Officer Sharkey in Gaelic, written especially for the occasion, and a response by Gorman in the stately Latin of his early years. Gorman, it is said, studied for the priesthood in his youth, abandoning the studies because of ill health.

After the interchange of greetings adjournment was taken to the state store where mutual good wishes for long life and happiness were expressed over a bottle of the store's best soft drink. Both parties to the celebration reached their 36th birthdays today.

SPARE THE HEAT SAVE THE MEAT!

Farmers' Wives Are Given Ideas on Cooking Meat

Cook meat at moderate temperature, says the Bureau of Home Economics. Meat is a protein and, like white of egg, is toughened and hardened by long heating at high temperatures. Broil, roast, or fry tender, well-fattened cuts from young animals, in an uncovered dish without water. Braise, simmer, or stew less tender, leaner cuts with a cover, with or without water.

All cuts of pork, lamb, and veal are tender. Pork and lamb are fat enough for roasting and broiling. Veal usually is fat enough only for braising—generally with a little liquid added.

The less connective tissue there is in beef—the more tender it is. Tougher cuts are made tender if cooked as pot roasts, "smothered" or braised steak, or stew, or if ground or chopped and cooked as tender meat in hamburger steak or meat loaf. Fat usually is added.

Brown Both Sides

To pan-broil tender steak or chops, brown both sides in a lightly greased, sizzling hot skillet, lower the heat and cook slowly, turning the meat to insure even cooking. Pour off accumulated fat or the meat will fry. Never cover or add water in pan-broiling.

How many minutes per pound a roast takes depends mostly on oven temperature and whether the meat is to be rare, medium, or well done. A standing beef roast, seared for 20 minutes in a hot oven (about 500 degrees F.) and finished in a moderate oven (about 300 F.) usually is rare in 16 to 18 minutes to the pound, medium in 22 to 24 minutes, and well done in 30 minutes. Rolled roasts take from 10 to 15 minutes more per pound than standing roasts. The only sure guide, however, is a roast-meat thermometer inserted into the thickest part of the meat. Beef is rare at about 140 degrees, medium at about 160 degrees, and well done at about 180 degrees.

SCORE FORMER LAW-MAKERS IN COMING PRIMARY

Men and Woman Noted
Among Those Trying
for "Comeback"

Springfield, Ill., March 17.—(AP)—More than twenty former legislators are attempting to win back their former assembly seats.

Several veteran representatives who were defeated in 1934 have their names on the ballots for the April 14 primary. Others who made unsuccessful campaigns two years ago are again trying to get a legislative job.

One of the old-timers attempting a comeback is Michael Fahy of To-luca, who served 12 terms in the house as a Democrat before being involuntarily retired in 1934.

Other former representatives who want to return to Springfield include John L. Walker, five-term Republican from Joliet; William G. Thon of Oak Park, a Republican who served nine terms, and Miss Josephine Perry, Chicago, Republican.

D. T. Woodward, Grayville Democrat who has served in both houses, is senate candidate, William F. Gilmeister, who was defeated for his senate seat by the Chicago Democratic organization in 1934, is running for the house.

ownstate Candidates

Downstate candidates who want nominations to house seats they formerly held include: Thompson J. Anderson of Monticello, Francis E. Williamson of Urbana, Harvey Z. O'Hair of Bushnet, David Evans of Lomax, Sidney Parker of Texaco and Grover C. Borders of East St. Louis, Democrats; and Elbert Waller of Tamaroa, Schuyler B. Vaughan of Greenville, Wallace A. Bandy of Marion, R. H. Hushcle of East St. Louis and John R. Thompson of Bridgeport, Republicans.

Several Cook county men also are candidates again.

This was the last day for senatorial committees to notify the secretary of state as to how many representatives each party will nominate.

One of the Chicago candidates for the house is Nicholas J. Mastro, who had a Democratic senatorial nomination in 1934 but withdrew quietly to permit the unopposed reelection of Senator James B. Leonard, Republican.

Sauce for Gander

Galena, Ill., March 16.—(AP)—Charles W. Vail, Chicago, a Republican candidate for auditor, in a speech prepared for delivery at a campaign meeting here, today said Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield should serve the remaining two years of his senate term instead of seeking the G. O. P. nomination for auditor.

"A few years ago I was a candidate for another office other than clerk of the Supreme Court which I was then filling," Vail said. "I had two years of my third six-year term to serve and this same gentleman wrote that prescription for me—that I should remain in my office for the balance of the term and give someone else a chance to fill the office."

"The suggestion at that time had merit. If it had merit then, why not now?"

Vail's itinerary called for a meeting at Rockford tonight.

ITALIANS FOR HORNER

Springfield, Ill., March 17.—(AP)—F. Lynden Smith, Governor Horner's campaign manager, Monday issued a statement here announcing 200,000 naturalized Italians have pledged their support to the governor in the Democratic primary race.

Smith said clubs have been formed in nearly every county with Avenue Toigo of Benld, state director.

WISCONSIN LOST COURT CASE O'ER STATE TAX LAW

Washington, March 17.—(AP)—Wisconsin lost Monday in the Supreme Court its contention that a 1927 state tax law—which taxed income of foreign corporations if their principal business was within the state—was valid.

The court refused to interfere with decisions by the Wisconsin Supreme Court November 5 and June 24 last year, which held the tax was unconstitutional. The ruling was on a protest by the Newport Industries, Inc., a Delaware corporation.

Attorney General James E. Egan of Wisconsin asked the review. He said the case presented a question the Supreme Court had not decided that was "of fundamental importance" to all states.

The Wisconsin tax commission had imposed a tax on the Newport company, predecessor of Newport Industries, for a purported profit of $2,274,589 on sale of stock it owned in the Milwaukee Coke & Gas Company to the Koppers Co., of Pittsburgh in 1927.

It claimed the dyestuffs and chemicals manufacturing company was regarded as a resident of the state because its principal business was transacted at Carrollville, Wis.

The state Supreme Court ruled the tax was repugnant to the 14th amendment which provided "no state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges of immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person of property without due process of law."

The action involved taxes for 1926 to 1928 inclusive amounting to $147,960.

Insull Perfects Plans For Large Broadcast Chain

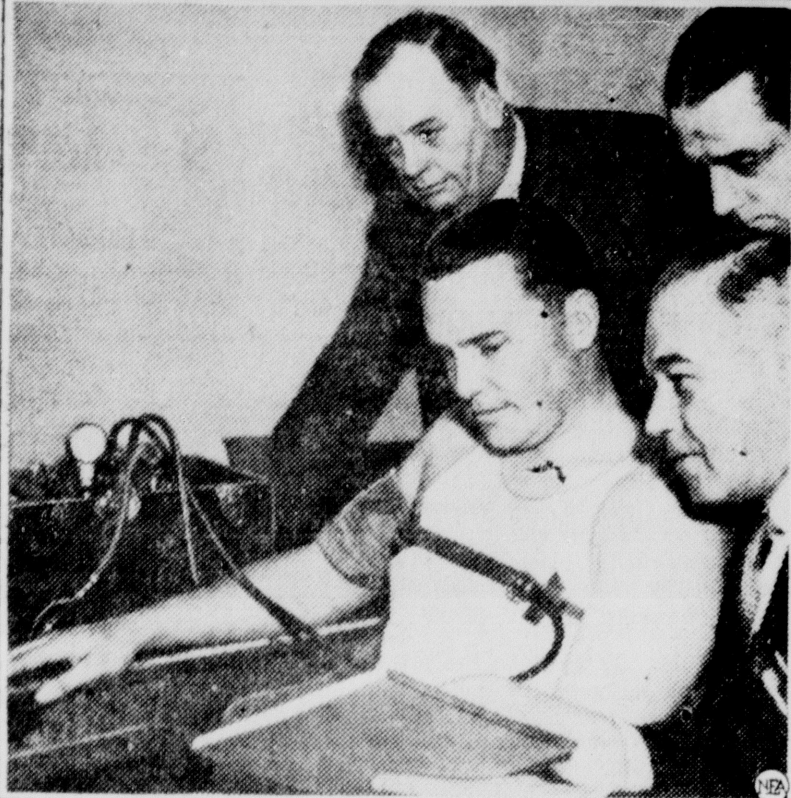

Chicago, March 17.—(AP)—Samuel Insull planned final details today of his 17-station midwestern radio chain, an intended business comeback for the 76-year-old former utility magnate.

He announced operations would be started "sometime between April 15 and May 1."

The one time director of a two billion dollar utility empire said he held the signed contracts of the following stations:

WRJN, Racine, WCLG, Janesville; WHBY, Green Bay; WQMT, Manitowish, KFI, Fond du Lac, and WHBL, Sheboygan, all in Wisconsin; WDG, Minneapolis, Minn.; WCLS, Joliet, WJBL, Decatur; WTAX, Springfield, and WHBP, Rock Island, all in Illinois; WIL, St. Louis, Mo., WWAW,

Third Degree Bests Lie Detector

"Horse and buggy" police methods triumphed over modern science when Jerome von Braun, 27, former service station employee, flippantly defied the "lie detector" test he is shown undergoing in the presence of Berkeley, Calif., police officers; then broke down under long questioning and, police report, confessed the slaying of Mrs. Ada French Rice, 58, of Woodside Glen, Calif., last June. According to police, Selz, who had lived at the victim's cottage since her disappearance, admitted forging her name to a document transferring to him her bank account. Police began scouring San Francisco bay for her body.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE LAW HELD INVALID

Albany, N. Y., March 17.—(AP)—Supreme Court Justice Pierce H. Russell Monday held unconstitutional the New York state unemployment insurance law.

The judge refused to grant an injunction asked by the Associated Industries of New York state, however. He said he did not wish to stop the state's job insurance machinery from operating until the state's highest court, the court of appeals, has passed on the law's constitutionality.

A case involving constitutionality of the law is before the court of appeals.

In his opinion, Justice Russell said: "It is my opinion that the compulsory contribution by an employer to be paid as an unemployment insurance benefit to an employee of another is without validity under our system of government and constitutes unwarranted, unreasonable and arbitrary transfer of the property of one to another in violation of the due process clause of the constitution."

INVESTIGATION OF CAMPAIGN EX- PENSES ORDERED

Senate Democrats in a Search for Available
Committee

Washington, March 17.—(AP)—With campaign money already pouring out, senate Democratic leaders gave attention today to selection of a man to head the committee which will investigate this year's election expenditures.

Senate campaign expenditure committees have played prominent roles in campaigns of the past, but there are indications this year's will be more important than ever before. It will undoubtedly be asked to inquire not only into campaign funds proper, but also into charges of using relief funds for political purposes.

Senator Hastings (R-Del) is seeking to have the senate specifically inquire into the use of relief funds.

Claim Broad Powers

But many senators contend that regardless of the fate of the Hastings move, the committee will have full authority to make such investigations. The wording of the resolution to create the committee as proposed by Senator Robinson, Democratic leader, would give it power to inquire into any use of influence on voters.

With the election still eight months off, both parties are pouring money into the campaign. Reports recently filed with the house show expenditures far above normal for this time of year.

Democratic leaders have a comparatively narrow field from which to choose members of the investigating committee. Only senators from states in which senatorial elections are not being held this year are eligible. That eliminates about two-thirds of the senate membership.

Accused Standard Oil
The charges of Senator Borah of Idaho that "the Standard Oil Company" has tried to influence the selection of convention delegates in Oklahoma brought sharp denials from several officials.

The Idahoan, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, suggested that the campaign funds committee investigate the "facts."

The Oklahoma Republican convention was scheduled to open today at Oklahoma City. Six of the district delegates are instructed for Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas, six were chosen under endorsement for him, and three were uninstructed. The convention will determine the attitude of six delegates-at-large.

The California Republican assembly reiterated yesterday its insistence upon an uninstructed delegation to the convention and adopted a resolution asking Gov. Landon to have his supporters concur with the plan.

A LIGHT SMOKE

OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO

For twenty-five years the research staff of The American Tobacco Company has worked steadily to produce a measurably finer cigarette—namely, a cigarette having a minimum of volatile components, with an improved richness of taste—"A LIGHT SMOKE."

We believe that Lucky Strike Cigarettes embody a number of genuinely basic improvements, and that all these improvements combine to produce a superior cigarette—a modern cigarette, a cigarette made of rich, ripe-bodied tobaccos—"A Light Smoke."
